

Referenceliste

“Pediatric Constraint-Induced Movement Therapy in Young Child With Minimal Active Arm Movement” Dickerson, A.E.& Brown, L.E. (2007) American Journal of Occupational Therapy, 61, 563-573.

Constraint-Induced Therapy, “Ergoterapeuten” maj 2007. s.19-21.

“Can constraint therapy be developmentally appropriate and child-friendly?” Developmental Medicine & Child Neurology 2005, 47: 363-363.

“Neurorehabilitation and Neural Repair” sept. 2011: Pauline B. Aarts, Peter H. Jongerius m fl.

“Is outcome of constraint Induced Movement Therapy in unilateral cerebral palsy dependent on corticomotor projection pattern and brain lesion characteristics?": Monimul Islam, Linda Nordstrand, Linda Holmström, Hans Forssberg m.fl. – publiceret I “Developmental Medicine and Child Neurology” i dec. 2013.

“Constraint-Induced Movement Therapy” Student researcher: Rosie Pike, Pincipal researcher: Johanne Walker Lecturer, Occupational Therapy Program Faculty of Health Deakin University, 2011.

Nationale Kliniske Retningslinjer for fysioterapi og ergoterapi til børn og unge med nedsat funktionsevne som følge af Cerebral Parese – 9 indsatser. Sundhedsstyrelsen 2014.

MTV rapport, Sundhedsstyrelsen i 2011. Et forløbsprogram for rehabilitering af børn og unge med erhvervet hjerneskade. I denne anbefales CIMT træning i ”Indsatser rettet mod bevægefunktionen” stykke 3.3.3.

www.ahanetwork.se

www.etf.dk., Ergoterapeuten _01_2009_ side_28-29 ”Hvad er COPM?”